

Gin Tasting Experience

Learn how to make a professional standard Gin &
Tonic at home

Gin lovers know that there's a lot more to a delicious gin and tonic than meets the eye. From botanicals to tonics and the gin itself, our gin tasting experience is designed to teach what you need to know to make your favourite G&T at home.

Led by a gin expert in a fully interactive live session, there's the chance to learn how gin is made, the botanicals that make it so special and the flavour profiles of each of the selected gins.

The host will then take the group through a guided tasting, explaining the recommended serves and garnishes for the professional touch.

We can tailor the event to suit your group exactly, so you can be sure you're getting a brilliant experience that delivers exactly what you need it to.

And with all of our Ready Made Events, there's the opportunity to personalise the experience further with MemMail.

Event host

A gin expert will take you on a guided tasting of the gins you've selected, explaining their flavour profiles, recommended serves and which garnishes work best.

As the event is interactive, there's the chance for guests to ask any questions or you can talk to us about how the host can tailor the event to your group.

MemMail

Our MemMail sending service can be used to personalise your overall event experience. We can source and brand anything you like, and package it in your chosen brand colours along with a handwritten message.

Your parcels will be delivered directly to your guests' desk or door, sealed with a logo sticker so they know exactly who it's from.
